Floridians in favor of additional $1 cigarette tax

lear Editor: Nearly three-fourths of Florida voters are in favor of increasing the price of cigarettes by an additional $1 per pack, according to the findings of a statewide poll.

Such a measure would help decrease the number of lives lost as a result of tobacco use in our state and will help ease the $761 million burden that tobacco-related illnesses cost

Glades Youth Discover Center-Encouraging hope for the future

Drugs, violence, disrespect for authority, and ack of faith in the benefits of an education -ack of faith in the benefits of an education --these issues plague even our best and brightest youth. The transition to adolescence is often youth. The transition to adolescence is often difficult. Many succumb to negative peer pressure and choose to live troubled lives in order to fit in. Others adopt dysfunctional patterns because they don't feel they have any other alternatives.

There is, however, an option. The Glades Youth Dissovery Center is dedicated to providing recreational and social alternatives for adolescents. We want to tangibly show teenagers that a straight lifestyle can be fun, exciting and fulfilling; that it pays to stay in school, and that when you show others respect, they will in turn, respect you, and that you can respect yourself.

A "cool" place to be:

We acknowledge that for many teenagers, "talk is cheap". Therefore instead of discussing better ways to live, we actually partake in better living: Kids can write and record their own songs on professional equipment. They can act as producers, actors, dancers, cameramen, or women, for their own music videos for dramatic women, for their own music vectors for trainact presentation, or comedy routines. They can create tangible works of art through drawing. Kids can "learn from the masters" by taking trips to see professional artistic productions. The center is a fun place to be and teenagers will develop new peers; those who embrace and encourage positive activity.

So what's the catch?

So what's the catch?
You have to believe in a positive future. That's it! The Glades Youth Discovery Center is available to all teenagers in Western Palm Beach County. Come make new friends and learn how to use some of our electronic video and/or sound equipment. We here at GYDC want to give the teens of the Glades a chance to show off their talents and share their creativity with others. Get involved. GYDC is located at 365 North Main Street, Belle Glade. Congratilising to Mr. Eddia

Congratulations to Mr. Eddie Fletcher, our head custodian. Mr. Fletcher was selected as GCCHS' Education Support Employee of the Year. He will represent the school in the

Besides his regular job duties, he contributes much more to the school by helping the deans in disciplinary mat-ters, being an avid Raider sports booster, and cooking some great barbecue for the entire faculty and staff.

Meanwhile, his hobby is fishing. About the only thing he complains about is the weather if it interferes.

If you or a friend have thought about quitting smoking, here's some good news: it's never to late to quit. Consider these facts:

Smoking is the major cause of cancer deaths in the United States. It leads to nearly all cases of lung cancer and is a major cause of cancers of the mouth, larynx (voice box), esophagus (food tube), bladder, kidney, and pancreas.

Smoking can be particularly risky for older Americans. Many have smoked for a long time-an average of 45 years. Fortunately, older is often wiser when it comes to quitting. Older smokers are more likely to succeed. Of those older smokers who quit, nine out of ten do so on their own or with the help of booklets and programs they use on their own.

Nobody ever said quitting was easy, but it can be done. Here are some of the reasons to do it:

Your health: Twelve hours after you cut out that last cigarette, your body begins to heal itself. You will begin to breathe easier and your sense of smell and taste will improve. In ten years, your risk of death from smoking is nearly the same as that for a person who has never smoked.

Your family's health: The smoke from your cigarettes puts your children and grandchildren at risk of developing pneumonia and bronchitis. It also aggravates asthma. If your spouse is a non-smoker, his or her risk of getting lung cancer doubles if you smoke heavily.

Your pocketbook: Cigarettes are expensive, and so is health care. You can save on both if you quit.

All in all, if you're a smoker, quitting is the single best thing you can do to protect yourself against cancer. Over 40 million Americans have done it. You can too!

How Do I Quit?

Remember, most people do quit smoking on their own. Your doctor or pharmacist can help you get started. Or, call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER for advice and a free booklet of tips to quit. It's a free call.

Smoking: It's Never Too Late To Quit

Cigarette smoking is responsible for 85 percent of lung cancer among men, reports the American Cancer Society.

Welcome To Palms West Hospital

13001 Southern Blvd. Loxahatchee, Fl.

(407) 798-3300

The 117-bed employee-owned facility is part of Health Trust, Inc., a company which manages B5 hospitals throughout the United States.

"We stand poised for new opportunities," said, Mike Pugh, CEO of Palms West. "We have a vision of health care for our community that extends well into the year 2000."

A $14 million expansion plan that will provide increased facilities and nearly double the size of Palms West Hospital began construction on September 1, 1992.

The expansion phase calls for four new operating rooms; 50-seat ambulatory surgery waiting room; separate entrance for ambulatory surgery patients; expanded imaging department; the addition of nine emergency room beds; a designated trauma room; expanded rehabilitation therapy, respiratory therapy, and laboratory facilities; expanded business office and 50 seat waiting room space; new class and meeting rooms; and expanded administrative facilities.

The expansion will also include a new 23-bed medical/surgical inpatient wing on the hospital's third floor; a heliport, and added parking.

In addition to the hospital expansion a new Professional Office Building is scheduled to be completed in April of 1993.

The growth of Palms West parallels the growth of the community. Palms West Hospital will continue to strive to keep pace with the health needs of our patients and physicians.

The first phase is scheduled to be completed in April of 1993 and the second phase will be completed in September 1993.

Heat illnesses occur most commonly in early summer when the victims may have been exercising excessively without acclimatizing themselves to hot weather or during "heat waves" in which high temperature-high humidity and lack of wind combine to expose everyone to the risk of heat illness.

Heat illness can be divided into three basic catagories: heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke. Heat cramps are characterized by muscle cramps. Often these cramps occur in the abdominal or chest muscles.

Heat exhaustion is characterized by weakness, nausea, dizziness, headache and sometimes muscle cramps. Sweating is present. There is usually no disorientation. Body temperature may be elevated but less than 104°F.

Heat stroke is characterized by loss of the abitity to sweat. The skin is hot and dry. The victim is confused and may even have seizures. Body temperature is elevated to greater than 104°F.

The treatment for heat illness consists of removing the victim from the hot environment and replacing the fluid and salt in the body. In addition, rapid cooling is needed for patients with heat stroke. A physician should be consulted if any form of heat illness is suspected.

STROKES

The symptoms of a stroke differ, depending upon the part of the brain affected. The victim may or may not lose consciousness, and may or may not have a convulsion. Major signs of a stroke often include one or more of the following:

- 1. Intense headache.
- Difficulty in alteration in speech.
- 3. Suddenly impaired vision.
- 4. Weakness.
- Paralysis, tingling or numbness of one or more parts of the body, usually localized on one side of the body, as an arm, a leg, or both, or the muscles of one side of the face (evidenced by one drooping eyelid, or sagging of one side of the mouth).
- Difficulty in breathing or swallowing.
- 7. Loss of control of bladder and/or bowel.
- Unequal size of the pupils of the victim's eyes.
 In case of major stokes, the following first aid measures are in order:
- Maintain an open airway.
- Position the victim on his side to allow secretions to drain from the side of the mouth.
- 3. DO NOT give him fluids.
- Call for medical advice as soon as possible; hospitalization is usually necessary.

Do You Know These Facts About Breast Cancer?

How much do you know about breast cancer? The answer is probably "not enough," because few people like to think about the subject. But your health, and even your life, or the life of a woman close to you, may depend on knowing a few simple facts.

- One out of every 10 American women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime.
- Breast cancer dan occur without any warning signs. and more than 80% of breast lumps are not cancerous.

- If breast cancer is diagnosed and treated early, the five - year survival rate is more than 90%.
- Modern mammography can reveal small breast cancers up to two years before they can be felt.

There is no need to be afraid to learn about breast cancer. The facts are encouraging and reassuring. If you remember only on thing about breast cancer, it should be this: Your best protection is early detection. Early detection provides the best opportunity to treat breast cancer successfully, and a diagnosis may not mean removal of the breast. Doctors recommend this three-step early detection program:

Schedule regular mammograms-your first screening mammogram by age 40, one every year or two to age 49, and every year after 50.

Practice monthly breast self-examination-your doctor can show you the proper method.

See your doctor for regular breast examinations-at least every years until age 40, then every year.

PUNCTÜRE WOUNDS

Puncture wounds are wounds that are caused by sharp, slender objects such as a needle, nail or splinter. They are characterized by a wound that is small on the surface of the skin and extends for a variable depth into the tissue.

The majority of puncture wounds can be managed easily. The area of the wound should be thoroughly cleansed with soap and water. Tetanus immunization should be given if needed. (Need for tetanus immunization depends on the interval since last immunization and severity of the wound; consult your doctor if in doubt.

If the object punctures a blood vessel, swelling may occure immediately. This most commonly occurs with puncture wounds of the hands and feet. It is usually self limited and stop when pressure is applied to the puncture site and the extremity is elevated. If swelling continues or becomes very painful consult your doctor.

Puncture wounds due to their small size do not usually require sutures to close them. In fact, it is better not to close them because they are less likely to become infected when left open.

If the puncture wound is caused by an organic material such as wood, be sure that all of it has been removed. Organic material can cause a severe infection if left in the wound. As in the case of any type of wound, observation for infection is necessary. At the first sign of redness, swelling, increased pain or fever, consult your doctor.

Birth Control Pills Most Popular Contraceptive

Since their introduction 30 years ago, oral contraceptives, or birth control pills, have become the most popular method of preventing pregnancy.

Aside from sterilization and the new contraceptive implants, oral. contraceptives are the most effective means of birth control. The pills can work several different ways, either by inhibiting ovulation, inhibiting egg implantation or preventing sperm penetration.

Before prescribing contraceptives, the doctor needs to get certain vital information from the woman, including her menstrual history, previous medical problems and family medical history. Particular attention is paid to any incidence of diabetes, cardiovascular disease or cancer of the reproductive system.

This information helps the doctor determine if the patient is at risk by using oral contraceptives. Once any risks have been ruled out, the doctor will choose the pill formulation that is right for the patient.

As with any medication, the patient's pharmacist can provide additional advice and information to supplement the doctor's instructions. The neighborhood pharmacist is always accessible should the patient have questions after starting the prescription, according to NARD, the national association representing independent retail pharmacy.

When You Miss A Pill

All oral contraceptives should be taken daily. Missing one pill is not a major cause for concern.

The patient should just take it as soon as she remembers. It is best to take two pills at least six hours apart to minimize nausea which is common when two pills are taken simultaneously.

If two pills are missed, the patient should take two pills twice a day for two days and use a backup method of contraception for the rest of her menstrual cycle. If three or more pills are missed, the patient should call her doctor or pharmacist because the possibility of ovulation and bleeding increases with each pill missed.

Although oral contraceptives are safe when used as prescribed, side effects are common. Most are minor and short-lived. They may include vomiting. nausea. breast tenderness, and vaginal bleeding or spotting. These side effects usually occur during the first 28-day cycle of use and disappear by the third or fourth cycle. Fluid retention and weight gain may also occur.

It is important for patients to understand that many different oral contraceptive formulations are available, and an estimated 80 percent of all women should be able to take birth control pills without noticeable side effects after the third cycle of use.

Oh! My Aching Feet

Improving the health of your feet is definitely a step in the right direction, experts agree.

Women complain of aching feet more often than men, primarily because of uncomfortable or ill-fitting shoes. The proper shoes can go a long way in relieving stress on the foot and body that leads to soreness and injury. When shopping for dress or athletic shoes, follow these guidelines for healthy, happy feet:

*Shop for shoes in the afternoon or evening, when your feet have had time to spread. This ensures the shoes you buy won't be too tight at the end of a long day on your feet.

*The sales person should measure both feet for length and width to ensure proper fit. Your feet can change size, or one may be bigger than the other.

*The width of the shoe is just as important as the length.

"Make sure your toes have "room to wiggle;"
The toe box should be roomy enough that your toes aren't pressured from the top, front or sides of the shoe.

*Shoes should never slip at the heel. Q woman's heel is narrower in proportion to the rest of the than a man's. Make sure you buy a shoe designed specifically for women.

"Walk around the store with the shoes on to be sure they are roomy enough. When buying athletic shoes, jump up and down to see if the shoes have proper cushioning.

*Pick a shoe designed for your sport of choice: walking, tennis, and aerobics each challenge your muscles in slightly different ways.

When a surgical procedure is done in a podiatrist's office or clinic, a patient will be in and out the same day.

Two important points to remember are: If your doctor tells you to take all of your medicine, complete the full course as instructed, even if you feel better before it's all been taken, and if your doctor tells you to discontinue taking the medicine, do so immediately. X-Rays: The Inside Story

Although almost everyone has several X-rays taken in a lifetime, few know the inside story of this fascinating invention.

THEN: X-rays were discovered in 1895 by William K. Roentgen, a German physicist. Roentgen called them X-rays because at first he did not understand what they were. X is a scientific symbol for the unknown. Scientists now know X-rays are a kind of electromagnetic radiation, which also includes visible lights, radio waves and gamma rays.

Within a few months after Roentgen's discovery, doctors were using X-rays to examine broken bones. In 1896, Thomas Edison improved the fluoroscope so it could be used to view X-ray images. More efficient X-ray tubes were invented over the years. In the 1970s, radiologists began to use new processes for recording X-ray pictures, including CAT scanning.

NOW: New X-ray technology developed here on earth can bring out-of-this-world benefits to the U.S: space program. The Federal Systems

X-rays taken in space will let doctors on earth diagnose astronauts working on the Space Station.

Division of Eastman Kodak Company has been awarded a $3 million contract to develop a prototype medical X-ray imaging system to be used aboard the United States' Space Station scheduled for operation in 1995.

This Diagnostic Radiographic Imaging System (DRIS), compacts an entire X-ray system into a space of about 5.5 cubic feet and weighs less than 200 pounds. The equipment will let doctors on the ground assess disease or injuries that might occur to those working in space. It could prevent early termination of the mission or a costly rescue mission.

Relief Is In Sight

For Sore Eves

(NAPS)-Itching, burning, bloodshot eyes. Everyone's experienced themwhether it's due to a long day at the office, a late night on the town, an allergy, or a dry environment. "While most of these symptoms can be easily remedied, there are some things you should know before choosing an eye drop," says Dr. Kenneth Scherick, member of the Bausch & Lomb In Vision Institute. "Many people think an eye drop is an eye drop, but there are different eye drops for different needs.'

Choosing The Right Eye Drops

•Redness-Reliever Drops-Red eves are often a sign of irritation from air pollutants, cosmetics, alcohol or not enough sleep. Rednessrelieving drops may be effective for quick, temporary cosmetic relief. These products reduce redness, but do not contain à lubricant to soothe eyes.

·Allergy Eve Drops-If you suffer from the seasonal onslaught of red, itching eyes, an allergy eye drop is in order. Over-the-counter eye drops designed specifically for allergy eyes do more than just remove the red. New Bausch & Lomb. Maximum Strength Allergy Drops, for example, not only contain the highest concentration of rednessrelieving naphażoline available without a prescription, but a lubricant that soothes itching eyes and prevents further irritation.

·Artificial Tears (lubricant eye drops)-If your eyes feel tired, itchy or gritty, you may be suffering from Dry Eye Condition. Dry Eye symptoms may affect up to 30 million Americans and can be caused by environmental conditions, smoke or smog. Other causes may stem from viewing computer screens, certain medication and age. Over-thecounter artificial tears act as a moisturizer for the eyes, supplement natural tears, protect against further irritation, and are gentle enough to use as often as needed.

•Eye Wash-When you get something in your eye, don't rub-rubbing only makes it worse. Get irritants out the safe and simple way. A sterile saline formula rinses away irritants and provides fast, soothing relief to eyes bothered by dust, pollen, makeup, smoke, and other bothersome elements.

Whenever you use an eye care product, be sure it has not expired, changed color or become cloudy. If you're a contact lens wearer, make sure the product is made for use with lenses or remove them before using. To avoid contamination, do not touch the top of the container with your fingers, eyes, or other surfaces and close the bottle immediately after use. Always read the directions and if symptoms persist, see your eye care professional.

The psychological impact of wearing reading glasses can be reduced if several pair are kept in different colors and styles to match a wardrobe or activity. The experts at Marchon & Marcolin suggest that fashionable designs and colors can turn a tired "Ben Franklin" image into a look that is contemporary and fun.

Presbyopia occurs as we age when the lens of the eye becomes less flexible and less able to accommodate a clear focus in mid-to-close distances. According to Dr. Jack Weber, Marchon & Marcolin's Director of Education and Research, the solution is to wear reading glasses or bi-focals.

Until recently reading glasses implied a stigma of old-age. They were never youthful or stylish.

All that has changed say the experts at Marchon & Marcolin. Reading glasses, or half-eyes as they are called in the eyewear industry, tend to be bolder, more colorful and much more fun to wear. Today, reading glasses are available in cherry-red, emerald green, grape, turquoise and metallic blue, besides the usual tortoise and grays.

"The psychological impact of wearing reading glasses can be diminished," says Dr. Weber, "if you keep several pair that are color and style appropriate for the many facets of your life." He suggests investigating new eyewear materials and combinations of metal and plastic that can lend an air of authority, an image of elegance or a look that is just plain fun.

CFG halfeyes are available in fourteen unusual colors. CFGs are made from carbon fiber graphite, the lightweight and sturdy material in golf clubs and tennis rackets. A new material called Flexon makes bendable, twistable, tamper-proof eyeglass frames. For elegant dinner engagements, Marcolin eyewear has created reading glasses styled with glitter and gold.

Dr. Weber adds, "Why think of presbyopia as a traumatic experience, when eyewear has become an important fashion accessory. Take advantage of chic fashion choices and make reading glasses fun to wear."

YOU AND YOUR EYES

Our eyes are the most important sense organs. Half of all cases of blindness can be prevented with current medical knowledge and techniques.

The best defense against eye problems is to have a professional eye examination every two years after age 35.

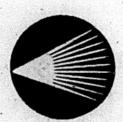

LATEST TECHNOLOGY

Disposable Contact Lenses: One of the most significant advancements in the eye care profession has been the introduction of the Disposable Contact Lens. These lenses promise superior comfort and patient satisfaction. Simply wear them for one week and throw them away. Replacing the lens weekly helps promote better eye health, because lens deposits are less likely to build up over time as they do with extended wear or daily wear soft contact lenses.

CPR CAN SAVE A LIFE!! SIGNALS OF HEART ATTACK

The most common signal of a heart attack is uncomfortable pressure, squeezing, fullness, or pain in the center of the chest behind the breastbone.

Other signals may be

- Sweating
- Nausea
- · Shortness of breath, or
- A feeling of weakness

Sometimes these signals subside and return.

- · Recognize the "signals".
- · Stop activity and sit or lie down.
- If signals persist 2 minutes or longer, call the local emergency number, usually 911, or if not available, the victim should be taken to the nearest hospital emergency room that provides emergency cardiac care.

CPR is a simple procedure, as simple as A-B-C: Airway, Breathing, and Circulation.

A. Airway

If you find a collapsed person, determine if the victim is unconscious by gently shaking a shoulder and shouting "Are you all right?" If there is no response, shout for help. If the victim is not lying flat on his or her back, roll the victim over, moving the entire body at one time as a unit. Then open the airway.

To open the victim's airway, lift up the chin gently with one hand while pushing down on the forehead with the other to tilt the head back. Once the airway is open, place your ear close to the victim's mouth:

· Look - at the chest for movement.

- · Listen for sounds of breathing.
- · Feel for breath on your cheek.

If none of these signs are present, the victim is not breathing.

If opening the airway does not cause the victim to begin to breathe spontaneously, you must provide rescue breathing.

B. Breathing

The best way to provide rescue breathing is by using the mouth-to-mouth technique.

Using the thumb and index finger of the hand that is on the victim's forehead, pinch the victim's nose shut while keeping the heel of the hand in place to maintain head-tilt. Your other hand should remain under the victim's chin, lifting up.

Immediately give two full breaths while maintaining an air-tight seal with your mouth on the victim's mouth.

C. Circulation

After giving the two full breaths, locate the victim's carotid artery pulse to see if the heart is beating. To find the carotid pulse, take your hand that is supporting the chin and locate the adam's apple (voice box); slide the tips of your fingers down into the groove beside the adam's apple; feel for the pulse.

If you cannot find the pulse, you must provide artificial circulation in addition to rescue breathing. Activate the Emergency Medical Services (EMS) System: Send someone to call the local emergency number (usually 911).

EXTERNAL CHEST COMPRESSIONS

Artificial circulation is provided by external chest compressions. In effect, when you apply rhythmic pressure on the lower half of the victim's breastbone, you are forcing the heart to pump blood. To perform external chest compression properly, kneel at the victim's side near the chest. With the middle and index fingers of the hand nearest the legs, locate the notch where the bottom rims of the two halves of the rib cage meet in the middle of the chest. Place the heel of one hand on the sternum next to the fingers that located the notch. Place your other hand on top of the one that is in position. Be sure to keep your fingers up off the chest wall. You may find it easier to do this if you interlock your fingers.

Bring your shoulder directly over the victim's sternum as you compress downward, keeping your arms straight. Depress the sternum about 1 1/2 to 2 inches for adult victim. Then relax pressure on the sternum completely. Do not remove your hands from the victim's sternum, but do allow the chest to return to its normal position between compressions. Relaxation and compression should be of equal duration.

If you must provide both rescue breathing and external chest compressions, the proper ratio is 15 chest compressions to 2 breaths. You must compress at the rate of 80 to 100 times per minute.

Ratio of	Rate
Compressions	of
to Breaths	Compressions
15:2	80-100 times/minute

ASTHMA ANSWERS

Today, there are an estimated ten to 15 million American adults and children suffering from asthma, a respiratory disease which blocks the airways and makes the ability to breathe more difficult.

Many physicians now believe that to halt the disturbing rise in emergency room visits and ease the many emotional and practical challenges faced by asthma patients and their families, there's a continuing need for up-to-date information on this chronic illness.

That's the reason for the creation of a new newsletter called Air Currents, offered free as a public service by All & Hanburys Respiratory Institute. It is an educational resource program supported by an educational grant from Allen & Hanburys, a division of Glaxo, Inc.

In addition to information the newsletter offers practical advice on how to deal with asthma and lead a healthy life.

Here from Air Currents are some tips on how to avoid situations which trigger an asthma attack and how to treat it once it occurs: *Talk to your doctor about medications you can use before exposure to known but unavoidable asthma triggers such as cold, dry air, animal hairs, and shifts in the pollen season.

*Exercise is a trigger of an asthma attack in some people. Many individuals who do not normally suffer from asthma can suffer from exercise-induced asthma (EIA), as can those who have well-established asthma.

*EIA can be prevented by medication prior to exercise and most physicians now recommend exercise for their asthmatic patients for cardiovascular and overall conditioning benefits it offers.

 Remember to review and update medicine routines regularly to accommodate seasonal changes in activities and schedules. Also, as children grow, medication needs change too.

 There are three million children with asthma. They should be encouraged, under medical supervision, to participate in all activities including exercise and sports.
